Editor's Letter

Dear paid subscriber (those who are not paid are a darn sight dearer): The Fliver Editor has just returned from a business trip to Fryeburg, Maine, in a quest for spring. There is no prospect of spring in Fryeburg, so the editor thought if he accepted a position offered him by the Spring Mfg. Co., he might produce results, but found to his surprise that they did not manufacture "spring" at all, but only "Spring". However, spring signs were more numerous than he had been having in Fryeburg, so he decided to help manufacture "spring" signs. The editor's part in the Spring Co. was to spring from the office stairs, spring from signs with the spring from signs, and spring from signs. In an artistic flourish that has made the Fliver editor's name famous in the world of art, spring signs were sent into Mr. Spring's truck and sink into the spring of a fountain, with his spring about every few thoughts of spring in his system.

It is proved to be a quaint village of colonial houses, but not a sign of life there. (perhaps they are all in the Fliver Ed's august presence with a penurious normal school enrollment in truly beautiful grounds (alumni and bachelors are not exactly the same). The school has a tendency to bring others back to normal; and of mud, mud pure and unadulterated, with more mud and plain mud in a childhood orgy of mud pies, mud puddles and muddy boots, (truly that such an exposure of mud is a good thing). Oh, how the Editor's spring would have raved over it and revel in it.)

It is not from excitement, and a general air of quiet was a distinct contrast from the scenes of bustling activity and bustle which were the Fliver Building, and to which we have been accustomed.

However, the few Gorchamites that we met impressed us as being honest, American, and all right, and we like 'em. Yours 'till Esau Wat pays his back subscription, C. R. Mills, Editor.

Mrs. Geraldine Abbott was lucky to escape serious injury when she "slipped" at P. O. corner one day recently. Contrary to first reports, there were no fractures except to the sidewalk and Mrs. Abbott's disposition.

R. A. Abbott is contemplating the purchase of a pol parrot. Seems like a queer idea for a married man to have in his nook.

Fliver Ed. has a fine family of White Rocks. Being pretty near the rocks away, this addition will probably land us there, by the time they reach their maturity.

New Boston Breezes
Something wrong when there hasn't been a "soap order" out for over a week. The flooded area of the Corn Shop Brook Valley has receded to such an extent that there is no danger of the Drowns families being drowned.

Impossibilities
For some people to tell the truth, for Wal. P. Mansfield to vote Democratic, to impart wisdom to some of our youth, or to listen in without static. To keep a secret, there's some can't do, though it's told to them on honor. Or to keep their eyes where they belong. When the wind blows 'round Postoffice Corner.

At first it was thought he would lose his sight but the outlook is more favorable and it is hoped he will fully recover his sight. It is a great calamity. The business demands his attention so he is intending to move his business this spring to Flagstaff where he has magnificent lumber and well takes his machinery from Sunday River there. It is reported that the business is going to leave for Mr. Bryant failed to secure a piece of timber he had hoped to and lack of timber causes the change.

Word has been received by relatives and friends that Anson Herbert Ken- nedy's condition is quite favorable, a slight improvement is noted and some nourishment can be taken. He is in a hospital in Cambridge, Mass.

Fred L. Clark has sold his house on Elm Street to Mr. Knapp for occupancy. Preparations are being made to build a cement bridge over Mill Brook at the foot of Mill Hill.

The town schools were closed Patriots' Day.

We wonder how many past and present students of Gould's Academy know that this year it rounds out it's nineteenth year as a "Hall of Learning."

and that Dr. John Grover was the first teacher. Dr. Grover was of the fifth generation of descendants of John Grover who came to this country from England in the year 1634. Dr. Grover's grandfather was a Revolutionary soldier so that puts the Oxford County Grovers in that line of ancestry.

This item is from the Bethel Courier of May 6, 1899: "Dr. True of this village informs us that he went up 'Puzzle Mountain' in Newry on Wednesday last (May 4) and found the snow for two miles from one to three feet in depth on the N. E. side of the mountain. 'Howard's Pond' was still covered with ice." That was about sixty-seven years ago, eh?

Lesson for April 25

THE STORY OF CAIN AND ABEL

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 4:1-16.
GOLDEN TEXT—Am I my brother's keeper?—Gen. 4:9.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Cain Quarrels with his Brother.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Cain Loses His Self-Control.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What Jealousy Leads to.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Sin of Hate.

I. The Birth of Cain and Abel (vs. 1-2).

In obedience to God's command to multiply and replenish the earth, the first children were born into the world. In the birth of Cain Eve thought that the promise of Genesis 3:15 was in process of fulfillment, and exclaimed, "I have gotten a man from the Lord." Soon afterwards she gave birth to Abel. Both sons were born outside of Eden. It was after the fall of our first parents and their expulsion from Eden that they brought forth children in the likeness of their fallen nature. Through the law of heredity this stream of corruption has been flowing on from generation to generation.

II. The Respective Callings of Cain and Abel (vs. 2).

Cain was a tiller of the ground and Abel a keeper of sheep. This shows that the primitive employment of man was agriculture and stock raising; in fact, before the fall, man's occupation was horticulture.

III. The Respective Offerings of Cain and Abel (vs. 3, 4).

Both were worshippers; both brought offerings—Cain of the first fruits of the ground and Abel of the firstlings of his flock. They both recognized God and His claims upon them. "The Lord had respect unto Abel and his offerings, but not unto Cain." Why this difference? Is God a respecter of persons? Was Abel better by nature than Cain? By no means, for there is no difference (Rom. 9:22). They both were born outside of Eden, therefore they both possessed the same depraved nature. The answer is given in Hebrews 11:4—"By faith Abel offered unto God a more excellent sacrifice than Cain."

IV. The Lord's Attitude Toward Their Offerings (vs. 4-11).

1. He accepted Abel's offerings (vs. 4). The reason for this acceptance was not because of Abel's goodness, but because he recognized his need as a sinner and by faith brought the sacrifice which represented the substitutionary offering of another in his stead (Heb. 11:4, Rom. 10:17).

2. He rejected Cain's offering (vs. 5). This was not because of the moral badness of Cain, but because he in the energy of his self-will, brought the fruit of his own soil.

3. Cain rebuked (vs. 6, 7). Cain, having selfishly resented the Lord's action, the Lord put a question of searching rebuke to him. As he extended His mercy to Cain, so He will give consideration to all who forsake their self-will and approach Him through the Lamb which was slain. The sin offering is lying at the door of everyone.

4. Cain slays Abel (vs. 8). He showed unrepentant friendship for Abel (1 John 3:2) to get a good chance to kill him. It is strange that the first murder grew out of the first recorded act of worship. This first murder was but a forecast of the oceans of blood which have been shed in the name of religion.

5. God's Judgment Upon Cain (vs. 9-16).

Soon after Cain's sin, God asked Cain to account for Abel, his brother. Instead of confessing his guilt and suing for pardon, he tried to lie out of it, even answering God with defiance, disputing His right to bring him into judgment.

1. Unrequited toil.
2. The earth failed to respond in fruitfulness to Cain's toiling.
3. A degraded outcast.
4. He was condemned to perpetual exile.

5. Banished from the presence of God.
He not only was thrust out from home and society, but from the divine presence. Cain realized the greatness of his punishment, but showed no repentance of his sin.

6. God set a mark upon him.

The Image of God
Even the birds build their nests and feed their young, singing the while. And the animals dig their burrows in the ground, working as if they were paid. And yet it has been said of them that they were made in the image of God—Willard Brown Thorp.

Trustfulness
The prayer that begins with trustfulness, and passes on into waiting will always end in thankfulness, triumph and praise.

ISN'T IT THE TRUTH?
Some people live 50 or 60 years with tight shoes always hurting their feet. Popularity consists merely of keeping our troubles to ourselves.

A preacher is not known so much by what he says as by how he says it. Most of those who are demanding justice should be praying for mercy.

There is more hope for a young fool than an old one.

The man who knows it all is seldom the one who wins the bet.

You never have to advertise a mistake your friends do it for you.

Nowadays it seems to be dollars rather than sense that interests the world.

Fame, like life insurance, never matures until after we are too dead to enjoy it.

The Greatest Show On Earth

Earth

The world is on the screen and the play is our own march to the light through tyranny and oppression. Democracy, the great triumph of the stage at the present moment stands the two great English speaking nations, America and England. Normally we call them Republic and Kingdom.

Let us look back a little to get our bearings. The Puritans did not all come to America. The church of the Rev. John Robbins, being dissatisfied with the English Puritan government, came over (largely in the Mayflower). After this, so many of them were inclined to come that the King and Parliament put a stop to the immigration. It is said by some that Cromwell was one of those so detained.

If that is true, it surely was a bad day for the King. Cromwell eventually became the leader that overthrew the King and his army, for the purpose of forming a democracy. When in power, like a true Briton he was a little strong. The King was tried, condemned and executed. Cromwell not being a Puritan, Washington remained the dictator of England during his lifetime. Upon his death, his government fell to pieces. The heir to the throne that had fled the country was established and more in arithmetic was left of Cromwell after being buried two years, was taken from the grave, hanged and burned. Nevertheless, the spirit of democracy did not perish. From that time to this it has curbed the spirit of arbitrary rule of the King and House of Lords, until the Premier and the House of Commons have become the real government of England.

When our forefathers began the fight against the oppressive acts of the King and his parliament, they began it to maintain their rights as Englishmen. So many of the people sympathized with them either openly or secretly that the King was obliged to hire the Hessians (Germans) to fight for him. This was one of the important factors that led to our victory. It was this same spirit among the laboring classes of England that prevented England from entering our war of the rebellion on the side of the south. The south would stand for the defense of slavery, even though their masters were willing to precipitate starvation upon them when the supply of cotton was shut off by our blockade of the southern port.

The exchange of letters between these labor organizations and President Lincoln after the Emancipation Proclamation are among the finest things I have ever read.

The tendencies of the ruling class of England at that time were best illustrated by a letter, known as the Hazzard letter, addressed to the bankers of this country by an association of the same kind over there. Its substance was as follows: "Chattel slavery is to be abolished. This is right, for chattel slavery is but the owning of labor and carrying with it the right of the laborer. The better way, led on by England, is to control labor by controlling wages, and thereby relieve us of the care of the laborer."

A similar letter was written by a man in the mill industries of England up to the time of the Boer war was 18 shillings a week. The equivalent of $4.50. Lord Roberts, that eventually won the Boer war, told us that his army was slowly killing the English nation. In order to maintain the position of England in the world, they must produce goods that could stand training and hard service. Had they followed the advice of that man the world war would never have started.

Men from the mill towns of England were on longer, the strong men charged the guns at Belahave and that composed the "thin red line" that drove Napoleon from Waterloo to St. Helena. These men were no more, and in their place were men reduced in stature and vitality.

England, at the close of the World war had a Coalition government, composed of Tories (conservatives), Liberals and Labor. This was succeeded by a Labor government. This labor administration did not act the least "Bolshevik" that Red Terror called Socialism did not appear. Labor was not socialist, or communist, whichever you prefer to call it. Now they have a Conservative ministry but you do not see any strong signs of reaction. Quite to the contrary. They see the absolute necessity of controlling the interest of the general public, not only the coal mines, but electric power also. They have studied the great and successful development of hydro-electric power in Ontario.

Who cares what they call it so long as it benefits the average citizen? If they benefit by the most practical manner the men of great wealth in England. These reforms would never be effected unless the laboring class were united and ready to stand for a square deal. They will stand for further crushing by reduction of wages. They must have decent living conditions. If they have less, then the wealthy class will fall when the laborer falls.

In this country we are facing a similar proposition. The wealth of our great financiers has, and is now, increasing in geometrical ratio. That is, every additional dollar immediately begins to add another dollar. Their well secured dividends are so large that they absorb the entire increase in wealth of the country and must at the present ratio soon absorb the basic wealth as well as the increase. These billionaires cannot spend their incomes. They may occasionally appear to give away millions but they tie it up to perpetuate their own system.

Increases in transportation rates that bear so heavily on the average man must cease.

Don Saiz never spoke a truer word than is contained in the last paragraph in his recent article. "Sooner or later we must create some method by which issues can be brought swiftly and simply before the people. If this is not done we can only look forward to increased membership in the club (What's the Use Club) and the complete destruction of popular government." Every man in the country ought to read that, until he can remember it.

Cheer up! The prospect is bright, when Charles Evans Hughes and Al Smith, the Temporary Hall (but progressive Governor of New York) come out for State development and control of hydro-electric power, and our—well, let us call it conservative government, at Washington, approves of state development of the great Boulder Canon Hydro Electric and Irrigation proposition. There are but three questions to ask, namely: Have they become converted? Has Shylock become kind, or are they Greeks bearing gifts?

Cheer up again. Our republican State Convention has not called for the meat of the law prohibiting the State of Maine from being made a power house to run the industries of other sections.

With reasonable rates of transportation the proper development of our waterpower should bring industries into this state.

I believe in the near future the tendency will be to locate in smaller towns where living conditions are not so congested and expensive.

When these matters are thought out and accomplished in an orderly manner, they are seen as progress or "evolution" when long neglected they are not so much experiences as those of 1776 and again in 1861 to 65. Russia is passing through the ordeal, the same as France experienced a few generations ago.

There is an immutable law that is above constitutions and laws of men. It works like the "Heaven" that was hid in the seven measures of meal until it all became leavened. Men can hinder and obstruct progress, but they sooner or later are overborn. "Offense must needs be, but woe unto the man by whom offense cometh."

These old and well proven principles, if well followed, will carry us safely across every bridge as we come to them. —R. L. Cummings.

A Record Made a Verdict Rendered

Here is a record to make you pause: 70,599 Dodge Brothers Motor Cars and Graham Brothers Trucks sold in the United States from January 2nd to April 3rd, 1926!

The greatest quarter in the company's history. 37 per cent greater than the same period last year, when 51,318 units were sold.

This record was a foregone conclusion. Since the first of the year demand increased week by week. Each period showed greater sales than the one preceding and greater than the same period of 1925.

During the last week recorded, ending April 3rd, 9104 units were sold, against 6530 for the best week last year—a gain of 39 per cent.

Sales figures are an index to the buyer's preference. Buyer's preference, these days, springs from clean-cut convictions on quality and comparative worth, penny for penny.

Although the peak of the selling season has not yet been reached, the verdict has already been rendered.
